tradition meets tomorrow

Each apartment has its own thinnai (patio) — semi-private for those who want some moments of solitude with their cup of filter coffee but equally welcoming if they wanted to have their friends and neighbours drop by for a chat.
